1 do not know that I need to say next

I do not know that I need to say next that such a spirit of nationality reposing on will and reason, or however produced, not spontaneous, and therefore to some extent artificial, demands a specific culture to develop it and to make it intense, sure and stant. I need not say this, because it so plain; but it is important as well as dain. There is a love of country which omes tragaffed for, one knows not how .--It comes in with the very air, the eye, the ear, the instincts, the first taste of the mother's milk, the first beatings of the heart. This faces of brothers and sisters, and the loved father and mother,—the laugh of playmates, the old willow-tree, and well, and schoolhouse, the bees at work in the Spring, the note of the robin at evening, the lullaby, the cows coming home, the singing book, the Catechism, the visits of neighbors, the general training,—all things which make childhood happy, begin it; and then as the age of passion and the age of the reason draw on, and love of the spring sold schools and selected sport has appeter quality of primor to mit the "hard fines." We test out a little pleasure at the frequent praise braidwed upon the appeter quality of our instruments already will and leg leave to say, that our precent we buy politic change of inferior, and every thing is warranted perfect. We wink nor have a poor enterrable thing about us if we can help it. We want a little down on lentruments of perfect. We wink nor have a poor enterrable thing about us if we can help it. We wink nor have a poor enterrable thing about us if we can help it. We want a little down on lentruments and the age of the reason draw on, and love heart. The faces of brothers and sisters, the age of the reason draw on, and love and the sense of home and of accurity and of property under law, come to life; and as the story goes round, and as the book or the newspaper relates the less favored lot of other lands, and the public and the private sense of a man is forming and formed, there is a type of patriotism already. Thus they had imbibed it, who alread that the private had imbibed it, who already that they are how the sense of the structure of the rest of instructions. Thus they had imbibed it who stood that charge at Concord, and that they threw up the hasty a imperfect redout on Bunker Hill by night, see on it the blood red provincial flag, and passed so calmly with Passcorr and Pursass and Warner through the experiences of the first fire. But now to direct this apontaneous sentiment of hearts to the Union, to raise it high, to make it broad and deep, to instruct it, to educate it, is in some things barder, some things casier; but it may be done; it must be done. PARTIAL DEAFNESS AND

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, meast perfect, which medical science can afford. Aven's Carmanatio Prince has deen prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cares such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to oproce disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stranslating them into healthy action, they removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stranslating them into healthy action, they removing through the body, and the sick man is well sgain. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in bealth they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antisgonistic to disease, and no more. Tunder children may take them with imputity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with billions complaint; see his bent-up, tot tering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appoints return; see his leamny features olessom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabe fall from his hody; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late laper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been scaked through every muscle of his body with lindments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mertal power can reach; but mark, he walks with arutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, baggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long age casen every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the now man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or come lurking discose has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the wital principle into renewed vigor, to east out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the rease blossom on her exers, and where istely sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wated with worns. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless alcepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. testiens alceptings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy blooms of childhood. Is it nothing to do those things? May, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day. Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sidenche, Heartbarn. Foul Stomach. Neusca, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appelite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangement which these Pills rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the commel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and she distressing, dangerous dispases they cure, which afflet so many millicon of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Aven's Chenny Pracronal. has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled Consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed heyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs and throat, Here a cold had settled on the lungs and throat.
